

SCIENCE OF INVOCATION - EVOCATION

The usable aspirant is like unto a channel or chalice into which can be poured energy. This one then radiates it in all directions to the environment. When this is done, the receptive one becomes the Light. As a number of these aspiring ones grow in ability to distribute the Light through radiations, the atmosphere becomes increasingly pure--- spiritual, positive and conducive to the well-being of all Life in that vicinity.

As one is initiated into greater work potential, the will being developed creates a flexing action. The will is used to shift from receptive to active and vice-versa. Controlled and disciplined shifts enable the disciple to serve upon command. The receptive ability must be developed first or the servers can not receive the message (instructions) or the energy stream (Grace or Holy Spirit) being directed to them.

The ability to distribute is first through radiation. This clears and cleanses one's own vehicles, of course, but its next use is to distribute the glow to the environment in an even manner as does the street light.

As one advances in willingness and clarity, and can be trusted by the Giver of Commands from the inner, a next step begins. Here one is directed to focus. A variety of exercises is provided for one to grow in ability to adjust one's will to higher will. The intensity of energy flow increases and so does the ability to be constructive or destructive. When the Giver of Commands can build such allegiance between Master and Chela that intensity is used by the Higher through the aligned wills.

Now the initiate has the capability of working like a rotating spotlight of flashing light in a rotating circle. This rich focus combines the energies radiating as a diffused mist into a potent effort. Think of the nozzle of a hose. The current of light bombards its subjects, freeing, clearing and adjusting the matter world. The bombardment assists those in its path in a rapid way to move more freely in their own journey through the earth plane experience. It assists them in being freed from being stuck or earth planted. Earth planted is limited to the material...a plant with roots holding one fixed when the heart yearns to be free. Now the incoming energy, often called Grace, goes to work.

The initiate shifts focused to radiating, masculine to feminine. This ability to shift is reflected in all life patterns and has been known by wise ones also as the in breath and out breath. This is the Science of Invocation and Evocation
